From the dashboard Navigate to the quiz library and complete the Mental Math quiz

Prior to Task Completion

What are your initial thoughts on the application?
Dashboard was clean but empty, with only a few elements in it having anything interesting. The data in the graphs did not show anything, and the recommended quiz and recommended puzzle didn't have any text.
How are you prompted to interact with the application?
The Nav bar was what i gravitated towards, however the button for the recommended quiz seemed to be how i would approach navigation to the mental math quiz, if there was a quiz listed
What elements stand out to you and why?
The recommended quiz and recommended puzzle stood out as the colour and image made it distinct to the rest of the page.
How do you believe you would get started on the task?
Quiz Library, to Mental maths quiz, to start button
What similarities can you identify between this app and others like it?
The dashboard is simar to some other apps, but the information displayed is different.

Following Task Completion

Did your perceived expectations for app interaction match how you used it?
The pathing to quiz was as expected, however there was more steps to start the quiz that i though there would be
What roadblocks did you encounter when attempting to complete your required task?
I was confused by the fact that you have to select the quiz, the start it. Also the small questions were wedged into the top left corner
How might the interaction be improved to help you achieve your task?
The quiz questions placed in the middle, and the text increased in size
Were there any key elements or features that prompted interaction in an unorthodox way?
The extra buttons required to start the quiz
When you made a mistake, how easy was it for you to recover in your task progression?
No difficulty
What did you enjoy most about this experience?
The questions were fun
What did you enjoy least about this experience?
There was no way to see my results at the end
Were there any other features not explored today that piqued your interest, and why?
Doing the recommended puzzle would be fun, but there was nothing recommended.
